Title: Request the banning of e-pharmacies and e-transaction to generate employment.

DR. KALANIDHI VEERASWAMY (CHENNAI NORTH): Sir, there are totally 8.5 lakh pharmacies in India under which more than 50 lakh employees are working and there are more than 2 crore people who are dependent upon such employment. Our country is going through a bad economic phase which is almost on the verge of recession. In this kind of a situation, all these online pharmacies and online marketing are going to create a greater problem of unemployment in the near future. I request the Government to consider banning of e-pharmacies and any kind of e-transactions so that employment can be generated where more people can be given jobs. With the prevalence of coronavirus, the economy is going to get even worse and our GDP may fall by more than 20 or 30 per cent. Keeping this in mind, I request Government to consider this point and do the needful.
