Andaman and Nicobar Islands:

- (b) if so, the reasons therefor;
- (c) the total loss of foreign exchange as a result thereof; and
- (d) whether it is proposed to revive the plantation of red oil palm by removing endemic forests?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF PARLIAMENTARY AFFAIRS AND MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINIS-TRY OF LAW, JUSTICE AND COMPANY AFFAIRS (SHRI RANGARAJAN KUMARAMANGALAM): (a) and (b). In pursuance of the decision taken in the meeting of the Island Development Authority held on 27 12-1986 there is a moratorium on expansion of Red Oil Plan Plantation in A&N Islands until a detailed environmental impact assessment is completed and all aspects have been examined on an integrated basis. Also as per provisions of the Forest (Conservation) Act. 1980 diversion of forest land for raising Red Oil Palm is prohibited except with the prior approval of the Central Govemment.

- (c) There is no loss of foreign exchange involved as the production from existing plantation has not been stopped.
- (d) No, Sir, One of the Basic objectives of the National Forest Policy is to conserve the natural heritage of the country by preserving the remaining natural forests with the vast variety of flora and fauna, which represents the remarkable biological diversity and genetic resources of the country. The policy also provides that such natural forests which also help to maintain ecological balance will not be made available to industries for undertaking plantations and for any other activities.
