- (b) whether any protest has been lodged by the Government of India to the Chinese Government for the intrusion; and
  - (c) if so, result thereof?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS (SHRI K. NATWAR SINGH): (a) As a result of the 1962 conflict, a so-called Line of Actual Control came into existence in the Western Sector of the India-China boundary. There are difference of opinion on this so-called Line of Actual Control and therefore no fully agreed Line of Acutal Control.

In the first week of July, 1987, Chinese troops dismantled the structure popularly known as "India Gate" near Chushul in Ladakh at a point which we regarded as on our side of the Line of Actual Control.

(b) and (c). The matter is under discussion with the Chinese Government. It is the policy of the Government of India to resolve these problems through peaceful negotiations.
