monument in respect of which action has been taken or is being taken under the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Sites and Remains Act of 1958.

- (b) The Act enforced on the 15th October, 1959 (and not 1958) provides for a penalty of Rs. 5,000 or imprisonment upto three months, or both, for doing any act which causes damage or injury to any part of a monument.
- (c) Monuments to be protected are selected by Government on the basis of the inspection reports by officers of the Department of Archaeology. There is no prescribed means for calling for complaints. Any one who has any complaint to make can write to the Department of Archaeology.

National Archives of India

1145. Shri Kalika Singh: Will the Minister of Education be pleased to state:

- (a) whether the National Archives of India has any scheme to prepare and publish press lists of papers relating to the events of 1857 (region-wise) and other important historical events affecting the country as a whole;
- (b) whether the list of papers and records connected with struggle for Independence in 1857 and 1858 in the region of Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh and the books on this subject will be published with the assistance of records of National Archives after the year 1947;
- (c) whether the princely States of India have handed over important papers and records to National Archives of India after the independence: and
- (d) if not, what efforts are being made in this respect?

The Minister of Education (Dr. K. L. Shrimali): (a) and (b). No, Sir. But, a chapter relating to the events of the struggle for Independence in 1857 and 1858 is proposed to be in cluded in the History of the Freedom Movement in India now being written,

- and the material available in the National Archives of India and in the repositories of Ut:ar Pradesh, Madhyw Pradesh and other regions might be utilised in this connection.
- (c) No. But, with the integration of the former princely States one or other of the existing constituent units of the Indian Union. ownership of regular official archives of the former has passed to the successor States who, it is believed, are in full possession and control of them. Some of the successor States or Administrations have. however, subsequent'y transferred such records as were of historical value to the National Archives of India. Such records of the former Bhopal State are already with the National Archives. and those of Gwalior, Indore Rewa, will be taken over shortly. The records of the former Hyderabad State are also expected to be taken from the Government of Pradesh when the proposed Regional Office of the National Archives India is opened at Hyderabad.
- (d) Does not arise so far as official records are concerned. As regards important papers and records which are the private property of the Rulers, appeals had been issued in the past inviting them to make a gift of their co'lections to the nation. Appeals are even now being issued from time to time to all private individuals which include the Rulers also.
