Answer

MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HUMAN RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT (SHRIMATIKANTI SINGH)

- (a) Yes, Sir. National Institute for Public Cooperation and Child Development has organized camps to create awareness about violence and crime against women during the last two years. However, no such camps were organized for children.
- (b) NIPCCD identified 87 crime-prone districts located across 21 States where such camps were organized benefiting 1,07,752 persons. The activities covered in these awareness camps include lecture, poster making, exhibition, melas, rallies, competitions and street plays. The State-wise details of persons benefited through these camps is given in Anexure.
- (c) Government of India released Rs.100 lakhs out of which an expenditure of Rs.47.30 lakh in 2002-2003 and Rs. 12.97 lakh in 2003-2004 was incurred by the NIPCCD for organizing such camps.
