(a) At present, there are 130 deemed to be universities in the country. (b) & (c) Yes, Madam. Pursuant to the general perception about dilution of academic standards in certain institutions deemed to be universities, the Government on 6th July, 2009 constituted a Committee of eminent academic experts to review the functioning of institutions deemed to be universities and the desirability of their continuance as such. The Review Committee, on the basis of their evaluation and assessment categorized the existing deemed to be universities into three groups, namely, (1) 38 institutions, which on an aggregate of their achievements and their performance as well as potential, justified their continuation as deemed universities. (Category I or (A). (2) 44 institutions, which on an aggregate were found to be deficient in some aspects which need to be rectified for a three years period for them to transit into first category for their continuation as "deemed universities". (Category II or (B).(3) 44 institutions deemed to be universities which, neither on past performance nor on promise for the future, have the attributes, to retain their status as universities. (Category III or (C). The report has been accepted by Government in principle. In respect of Category 'III' deemed to be universities, the matter is sub judice in Supreme Court of India in W.P.(C) No.142 of 2006 (Viplav Sharma Vs Union of India and Ors).

(d) & (e) A Task Force was constituted on 16/11/2009 in order to suggest ways and means to safeguard the interests of students studying in category 'C' institutions. The Task Force has classified the institutions into seven categories and suggested possible ways of protecting the interest of students in each of the categories. However, no further action was taken on this report in view of status quo ordered by the Supreme Court in respect of those 44 deemed to be universities.
