MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: Shall we take up matters under rule 377?

SHRI RAM NAIK (Bombay North): Sir, I have a point of order. On 13th August, when the List of Business was circulated to us, in addition to the ordinance and Bill on Oil and Natural Gas Commission, the Public Premises (Eviction) Act was shown to be discussed first and then the Supplementary Demands were to be taken up and then the Legal Services Bill was to be taken up. But in today's List of Business, the Public Premises Bill has been taken away. Suddenly we are required to start discussion on the Supplementary Demands. You can imagine the problem which we will be facing. Our speakers or speakers from various parties have to be briefed that they have to speak on the Supplementary Demands. Suddenly, if the order is changed, it becomes very difficult to coordinate.

So, I demand that such changes should not be made. Once you show it on the agenda, it should not be changed. If things are changed like that, who will take care of the Public Premises Bill? This Bill has been pending for the last two sessions. I demand that this should not be changed often. We come here and off-hand we are to discuss the Supplementary Demands. Supplementary Demands of five States are to be discussed. How it can come up suddenly?

You should take care of the feelings of the people who want to participate. The debate has
