granting and whether there might be something done by him which, if the Government takes action just now, could be avoided. That is the point that Government has to consider. The fear or apprehension of the hon. Members is, if we take time to take any decision whether during these two days he might do something else which could be prevented if we take action immediately, just now. That is the anxiety of the hon. Members.

Shri Hari Vishnu Kamath: A suggestion was made that his passport could be impounded.

Mr. Speaker: That is for the Government to decide because it is the Government which administers. I am not asking the Government to say what action they are going to take. I do not want the Government to disclose that. It is not necessary that they should disclose what action they intend to take. I am not insisting on that. I do not want that. But they should consider, should give full consideration to this aspect as to whether this delay or waiting on their part to hear the Foreign Secretary and then, afterwards, to take some action might not come in the way of any other thing or might not just encourage Mr. Abdullah to do further harm to this country during these two days which we might take in further discussion.

Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri: As far as I can see, during the next two days I do not think Sheikh Abdullah will be able to do anything further which would harm the interests of our country. But, as I said, in spite of the passport, he is entirely free to do whatever he likes, but he has also to realise that he must suffer the consequences . . . (Interruption).

Mr. Speaker: Now, no further discussion on that. So far as the adjournment motion is concerned, unless I know the facts, I cannot admit it simply on reliance of the newspapers which may even be correct. No discussion can take place merely on that. They might be a useful guide, they might give us information; but the facts are to be known and, therefore, so far as that is concerned, if the Government wants time, I am inclined to give them time up to Monday. But, again, I repeat my request and that warning that they should take proper precaution to see that nothing further is done during these two days so that our country might suffer . . . (Interruption).
