

Government rendering lakhs of workers jobless. Madhya Pradesh is also a State where a number of Textile mills run by the National Textile Corporation are on the verge of closure. Even after drawing the attention of the Central Government and the State Government time and again nothing effective has been done for their renewal and revival. Although the Central Government had given some suggestions but these are so much unpractical that the labourers can not accept these. These mills do not have financial resources. Under these circumstances the thousands of workers of the textile mills at Indore, Ujjain and Ratlam are very much feared about their closure and there is a lot of resentment among them.

Therefore, my submission to Central Government is that this matter may kindly be considered seriously and financial assistance for the renovation of the sick mills may kindly be provided immediately.

(vii) Need to Allocate more Funds to the Agricultural University at Bhubaneswar in Orissa

SHRI GOPI NATH GAJAPATHI (Berhampur): The Orissa University of Agriculture, Bhubaneswar is facing serious financial crisis. The University was the second largest Agricultural University in the country, when it was established thirty two years ago. The talents students not only from Orissa but from other States also used to come in large number to take admission in that University, as it has been a very famous University. Although the University has achieved great success in providing education, research and modern technical studies to its students, due to want of resources, it is unable to carry on these programmes in modern and scientific ways. The University was established in the pattern of Land Grant University of America. At that time, grants were being obtained from America regularly. After the seventies, external assistance stopped coming to that University. The Central Government also had not been sanctioning funds adequately since then. The tools, machinery and other equipments procured about 30 years ago have now become old and obsolete. When modern and scientific machinery are introduced everywhere, it is not possible to carry on the activities of the University with the existing machinery. As such, modern teachings, demonstrations, practical training and research work have come to a stand still. In addition to the State and Central Government grants, at least 30 crores more are required annually to meet the various expenses needed to run the University.

I urge upon the Central Government to allocate adequate funds to the University of Agriculture, Bhubaneswar from the 1994-95 financial year, in order to save the University from serious crisis.
